UTILITY HONORED . . . W. R. Davis, vice-president of the Southern California AGS Co., admires a plaque awarded to the company for its work with the blind. The award was given by the State Department of Rehabilitation Business Enterprise Program for the Blind, and commends the utility for "inspiring efforts and active participation in the state rehabilitation program for the visually handicapped."

49 DIED LAST YEAR

Football Still A Deadly Game

The leather oval is snapped back, the plunging lines clash, and a mass of squirming bodies piles up on the turf. A whistle blows, and usually the little forms spring up ready for renewed action. But there are times when one remains motionless where it fell. There are times, in fact, when one never moves again.

Last year 49 American youths lost their lives during football play or practice. Twenty-five of the 49 deaths were the direct result of injuries sustained during play. The other 24 were associated with indirect causes such as heat stroke, heart failure, or infection. More than half the annual fatalities are suffered by boys aged 16 to 18.

Considering the great number of youths and men playing each year on school, college, professional and pickup teams, 49 fatalities might be called a low average. But spectators all agree that even one death is one too many.

Civic Symphony Rated
Tops in Area Concert

The South Bay and Torrance Civic Symphony Orchestra gave a very exciting concert on Sunday afternoon at Torrance High School Auditorium under the baton of Elyse Aehle, their gifted conductor.

The City of Torrance and the Torrance Recreation Department are to be commended for bringing such a program to the people. A city which can boast of such an orchestra is providing the highest possible contribution to its cultural standing. It was gratifying to see a large percentage of young students there, absorbed in the music.

It was gratifying to see so many local celebrities in the audience all seemingly well-pleased.

THIS ORCHESTRA has now developed into a fine proficient group. It produces a sound favorably comparable to the Philharmonic and on the radio, to Arthur Fiedler's popular orchestra. The concert-mistress, Paula Gwinn, and the strings are particularly capable.

With such a group, Leader Elyse Aehle can demonstrate her powers of interpretation and her ability to weld fine artists into a balanced technically brilliant whole. Flute soloist, Virginia Cummings, proved herself to be an artist possessed of amazing speed. Her tone is sweetly lyrical in quality and her interpretation is impeccable. Again the Torrance Recreation Department is to be commended for bringing such an artist to the attention of this community. She has been a resident of Palos Verdes Estates for several years without divulging her true status as an artist.

Torrance's celebrated resident, Rosemary DeCamp, spoke in praise of the symphony and the developing plans for the Pacific Bowl and cultural Center. She reminded them that the people must show enthusiasm and a desire for such musical projects or these projects cannot be developed. As usual her beauty and her lovely voice so charmed her listeners that they were ready to go right out and work for her sake.

ANOTHER Torrance resident, Lawrence Willey, won the enthusiasm of the audience by conducting his own composition, "Eldorado." He received great applause.
